

Filter Rack

Filtriergestell

---

Georg-August-Universität Göttingen

Filter Rack

A filter rack is used for funnels during filtration. They make sure that the funnels are always positioned vertically.

The glass funnel is placed in the rack and an appropriate connection vessel is positioned underneath.

The funnel tube should always protrude the beaker edge but may not be immersed in the filtrate.

As the assembled filter rack takes up a lot of space, it is typically found in its components in the lab.