

Watch Glass

Uhrglas

Georg-August-Universität Göttingen

Watch Glass

A watch glass is a curved plate of transparent glass. Its diameter can vary from 6 to 20 cm.

Watch glasses are used e.g. to weigh in small amounts of substances.

Additionally, solid material can be dried on watch glasses in drying cabinets or dessicators.

Furthermore, beakers or Petri dishes can be covered with a watch glass (instead of using a designated lid) to prevent contamination.

