

Centrifuge Tube

Zentrifugenglas

Georg-August-Universität Göttingen

Centrifuge Tube

A centrifuge tube is a pointy container made from glass (top) or plastic (bottom). An advantage of plastic centrifuge tubes (e.g. Eppendorf-Cap[®]) is that they can be closed with caps.

Centrifuge tubes are used in centrifuges. A centrifuge can separate the components of a suspension or emulsion through circular motion by which the solid ends up at the bottom of the centrifuge tube.

